Disclaimer: I haven't used Java 8 yet, only read about it. `Function<String, Integer>` doesn't throw `IOException`, so you can't put any code in it that throws `IOException`. If you're calling a method that expects a `Function<String, Integer>`, then the lambda that you pass to that method can't throw `IOException`, period. You can either write a lambda like this (I think this is the lambda syntax, not sure):
